Zoom eucharist felt like an episode of Masterchef — and I loved it

I conducted my first experimental Zoom Eucharist on Sunday. I'd only just joined up to the video conferencing software the day before, so the way it worked was completely new to me. But we muddled through. Some people were unable to find the "meeting". Others couldn't find the mute button so that the words of our Lord, "do this in remembrance of me" were superimposed with the sound of various domestic goings-on, with contributions that some may have wished to have edited, especially had they known they were being broadcast to the rest of the congregation.

The chap who did the intercessions sipped from his mug of tea in the silences between his prayers. A couple joining in on the sofa at home realised that the nude painting behind them might not be entirely appropriate for church service broadcast. In a way I have never experienced before, church space and domestic space collapsed into one another in the zoom Eucharist. And the potential for comedy is high.

Even so, I loved it. I can imagine that when we are back to normal — if, indeed, there will be a normal to return to — the idea that the sick and the housebound will be able to join in our Sunday service from home is something we will want to continue. But it still felt odd giving the Eucharist out to nobody but myself. Even odder to invite the e-congregation to say along with me the words of the post-Eucharistic prayer: "we thank you for feeding us with the body and blood ...". Can we get bread and wine and hold it up near the computer screen, someone asked, that way you can consecrate ours at home? That felt like a clear no to me, but I'm not sure Eucharistic theologians had ever considered anything like that. So many questions, so few answers.

Torrwn y bara hwn, er mwyn cyfranogi o Gorff Crist.

A ninnau'n llawer, un Corff ydym, gan
ein bod oll yn cyfranogi o'r un bara.

Oen Duw,
sy'n dwyn ymaith bechodau'r byd:
trugarha wrthym.

Oen Duw,
sy'n dwyn ymaith bechodau'r byd:
trugarha wrthym.

Oen Duw,
sy'n dwyn ymaith bechodau'r byd:
dyro inni dangnefedd.

Y Gwahoddiad

Dewch a derbyniwn nerth gorff a gwaed ein Harglwydd Iesu Grist, a roddwyd drosom. Derbyniwn yn ein calonnau trwy ffydd gan roi diolch.

We break this bread to share in the body of Christ.

Though we are many we are one body
for we all share in one bread.

Lamb of God,
you take away the sins of the world:
have mercy upon us.

Lamb of God,
you take away the sins of the world:
have mercy upon us.

Lamb of God,
you take away the sins of the world:
grant us peace.

The Invitation

Draw near and receive the strength of Body and Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ which was given for us. We receive it by faith and with thanksgiving.

Diolchwch i'r Arglwydd
oherwydd graslon yw.
Ei gariad sy'n dragywydd.

Dduw ffyddlon,
rhoddaist manna o'r nefoedd
i'th bobl yn yr anialwch.
Cryfha ein ffydd
fel y tyfwn mewn cariad atat ti,
ac at ein gilydd,
trwy Iesu Grist, ein Harglwydd
atgyfodedig.
Amen.

Yr Arglwydd fyddo gyda chwi.
A hefyd gyda thi.

Y Fendith

Ewch mewn tangnefedd
i garu a gwasanaethu'r Arglwydd Yn enw Crist. Amen.

Give thanks to the Lord
for he is gracious:
His love is everlasting.

Faithful God,
you gave manna from heaven
to your people in the desert.
Strengthen our faith
that we may grow in love for you
and for each other,
through Jesus Christ, our risen Lord.
Amen.

The Lord be with you.
And also with you.

The Blessing

Go in peace
to love and serve the Lord.
In the name of Christ. Amen.
